To prevent accidents from going over Niagara Falls it has been suggested that a wire cable be suspended across the river just above the water, which persons in danger of going over might catch hold of and work themselves ashore or hold on till assistance came. To make the cable useful at night it is proposed to light the river at that point with electric lights.

A story has been published that the United States engineer, formerly in charge of the harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., is short in his accounts about $1,000,000. The officer is now with the United States embassy in London. The charge is said to be false, but it may be incidentally remarked that a $1,000,000 short would be a pretty long short.

The river steamers are still waiting for higher water, which will be necessary before they can resume their usual operations. The *A. P. BASE BALL AT HILTON.

The "Old Maids" and "New Women"—Game Won by the Latter—Score Nine to Six—Juveniles' Game.

The game of base ball at Hilton Park yesterday afternoon was a regular melodrama—melo because it caused roar after roar of genuine, unadulterated laughter to ascend heavenward from many throats, and there was just enough excitement to hold the interest of the spectators and to make some of the situations very dramatic(?). The two teams that met upon the diamond were strong ones and strong in purpose—to win the game—but the costuming of the players, nine of which were dubbed "Old Maids" and the other nine "New Women," was something side splitting, and looked like eighteen pictures taken out of some current magazine of the last century. The game was called at 4 o'clock, with Mr. W. F. Robertson officiating as umpire, and all the players holding up their respective skirts as if afraid of rats. After five innings the game was called on account of the near approach of the 4th of July, and with the score standing 9 to 6 in favor of the "New Women." The line up was as follows:

Old Maids—Oldham, c.; Bagg, p.; Sinclair, 1st b.; Galloway, 2nd b.; Schulken 3rd b.; Stevenson, s. s.; Latta, l. f.; Hill c. f.; Black; r. f.

New Women—Zollers, c.; Sweeney, p.; Wooten, 1st b.; Moore, 2nd b.; James, 3rd b.; Dosher, s. s.. Brown, l. f.; Monroe, c. f.; Marshall, r. f.

By innings the game resulted as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	Total.
New Women	1	0	4	3	9	9
Old Maids	0	0	0	3	3	6

Struck out by Sweeney, 8; by Bagg, 6. Sweeney and Bagg each gave two base balls.

JUVENILES' GAME.

Yesterday afternoon, at the ball grounds of the O. A. N.'s, the Confederate Greys add the North Carolina Giants, two juvenile base ball teams, met, but the Greys proved superior to the Giants by a score of 15 to 4. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of the darkness. Wood and Stevenson were the battery for the victors, and Dock and Carpenter for the vanquished. Wood succeeded in convincing nine of his opponents that they desired to strike out, and Dock likewise made the same impression upon four of his.

Bancroft, the Magician.

The coming of Bancroft, the magician, at the Opera House Monday evening is hailed with delight by theatre-goers who appreciate a good and refined magical entertainment, and such Mr. Bancroft's performance is. This will be the wizard's second appearance in Wilmington, and judging from the fine production which he presented here last season the "standing room only" sign will be displayed early in the game Monday night.

Bancroft occupies a prominent and popular field in the amusement world by virtue of the unprecedented lavishness with which he has surrounded his exhibition of mystery and bewilderment. With a marvellous natural dexterity, trained by years of arduous and successful practice, and combined with rare gifts as an entertainer, he has spared no expense in surrounding his mysterious talents with a scenic production of unexampled magnificence. His programme this season is of unusual interest and includes many new features that charm and bewilder, evoking laughter and admiration, and affording an evening of merry enjoyment.

One of the magician's most startling illusions is performed with a live lion, which will be on exhibition all day Monday in the show window of S. A. Schloss' store.

Funeral of the Late W. W. Mintz.

The remains of the late W. W. Mintz, who died Tuesday in Savannah, were brought here yesterday for interment, arriving at 12 15 p. m. over the W., C. & A. Railroad. They were accompanied by the wife of the deceased, a son, Mr. Albert Mintz, and one or two others of the family connection. The funeral party proceeded immediately to Bellevue cemetery, where the interment was made, Rev. F. H. Farrington, pastor of South Side Baptist church, conducting the services. The Odd Fellows' ritual for funerals was observed, Mr. J. M. McGowan, of Wilmington Lodge No. 139, and Mr. S. A. Craig, of Orion Lodge No. 67, acting in their official capacities of Chaplain and Noble Grand respectively.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. S. A. Craig, G. H. Wade and Geo. Smith, of Orion Lodge No. 67, and Mr. J. M. McGowan, of Wilmington Lodge No. 139.

COTTON FACTS AND FIGURES.

—Yesterday was a great day for receipts of cotton. The figures at the Produce Exchange showed the receipts to be 3,870 bales, and there were 175 car loads or 3,681 bales, which came in on extra cotton trains too late to be posted at the Exchange. The total receipts therefore were 7,051 bales. There were two other extra cotton trains expected to arrive last night.

—The receipts for the past week were greater by a half than they were for the corresponding week of last year, the figures being 16 618 bales against 10,691. Receipts for the cotton year 23,559 bales this year; 20,798 last year.

— See commercial columns for weekly statement of cotton and naval stores. Receipts of naval stores have been lighter than usual, owing to retarded navigation on the Cape Fear River.

Hoffer was too puzzling to the Phillies in their first games yesterday with Baltimore, but in the second things changed and it was Dunkle, Philadelphia's new 'un, who was the puzzle. Amole pitched in game No. 2.

Nichols played with New York yesterday until he became tired and then Banger had a go, while Sullivan, on the other hand, worked hard to defeat the Beanaters, but without effect.

Lots of people yesterday were expecting to hear of Boston's downfall on account of Rusie being in the game, but they were sadly mistaken. Amos will probably act this afternoon, and Baltimore will no doubt trot out the best—Brother Joe.

Brooklyn pushed the Senators down from sixth place yesterday.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Called Meeting—An Amendment to the Ordinance Concerning Markets Adopted.

A called meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Present, Mayor Wright, Aldermen Twining, Benson, Green, Norwood.

After some discussion the Board adopted by a unanimous vote the following:

"Be it ordained, by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Wilmington, and it is hereby ordained by authority of the same:

"That sub division 2 of section 5 of the Market Ordinance as passed October 28, 1896, be, and the same is amended as follows: Strike out after the word 'quarters,' in line two of said sub-division, 'until after 9 a. m.,' and by striking out the word 'three,' in line four, and inserting in lieu thereof the word 'six.'

"Amend sub division 6 of said ordinance by striking out the words 'pork, meat-bones' wherever they occur in said sub-division."

The Mayor stated that several merchants had been compelled to carry over large stocks of cannon crackers by reason of the cannon cracker ordinance, passed as it was last year after the stocks had been laid in, and that in view of these facts he thought it best to draw the ordinance before the time for ordering holiday goods arrives, so as to let the merchants know exactly what they have to depend on. This plan was approved by the Board, and Mayor Wright appointed as a committee to prepare the ordinance Aldermen Twining, Green and Norwood.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE FIRE YESTERDAY MORNING.

A Blaze in Messrs. Boney & Harper's Grist Mill—Damage Slight—Another Small Fire in the Afternoon.

About 6.30 yesterday morning fire was discovered in the grist mill of Messrs. Boney & Harper, on Nutt street, between Walnut and Mulberry, and an alarm of fire sent in from box 35 which quickly brought forth the department. The flames, which were located underneath the flooring in the rear of the second story of the building, were quickly suppressed, but only after hard work. At the time of the fire the mill was running, and it is supposed that the friction caused by the slipping of a pulley connected with some part of the machinery caused it. The damage was mostly by water, and is estimated at about $250, fully covered by insurance. The mill shut down the remainder of the day, but will be in operation this morning.

A small fire, caused by sparks from a blazing chimney, on the roof of a one-story frame dwelling on Harnett street, between Sixth and Seventh, called the department out again in the afternoon about 4 10 o'clock. The house was occupied by Ben Smith, colored. The damage was nominal.

Funeral of the Late Edward Daniel.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Mr. Edward Daniel, who passed away last Wednesday morning at St. Vincent's Hospital, Norfolk, Va., were conducted yesterday morning at 10 o'clock from St. James' church, and the large attendance attested the worth and popularity of the deceased.

Bishop A. A. Watson conducted the services and a choir consisting of Mr. J Van B. Metts, Mrs. J. H. Watters, Mrs. A. M. Waddell and Mr. A. S. Holden rendered feelingly the hymns "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Hark, Hark, My Soul."

As the last hymn was being sung the casket was slowly and tenderly carried to the hearse and the funeral procession then moved to Oakdale cemetery, where the interment was made. The mound was covered with the most beautiful floral designs.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. D. T. Cronly, U. M. Robinson, F. H. Stedman, W. A. Dick, Seymour W. Merrill, C. C. Chadbourn, R. L. Williams, H. H. McIlheany and B. G. Empie.

RALEIGH NEWS BUDGET.

A Long Lost Sword Found—The Forthcoming Meeting of the Seaboard and Roanoke Stockholders—Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F.—Land Buyers.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 17.

Major H. S. Burrage, of Portland, Me., who some weeks ago wrote Governor Russell, making inquiries about a sword which was taken from him at Petersburg, Va., November, 1864, by Lieut. Teague, of the North Carolina troops, has at last found the long lost prize. It was ascertained that Lieut. Teague went from this State to Belton, Mo., and the sword was located. It was in the possession of the Masonic order there. Lieut. Burrage expresses his thanks to the Governor for the interest manifested by himself and other North Carolinians in securing the sword for him.

Miss Ethel Wayland Frov, a daughter of the late Capt. J. J. Frov, of this city, who has been living in Virginia, has returned to Raleigh and will make her home here.

Three Raleigh ladies who are visiting relatives in Mississippi are finding difficulty in returning home, owing to the strict quarantine regulations prevailing there.

Mr. W. D. Ashe went to Baltimore this morning to attend the sessions of the American Botanical Association. Mr. Ashe, who is the State forester, carried with him exhibits of North Carolina botanical specimens.

There is much interest manifested in Raleigh in the forthcoming meeting of the stockholders of the Seaboard & Roanoke railroad at Norfolk. Much stock in the road is owned here. A director to succeed W. W. Fuller, of Durham, will be chosen. Ryan has the sympathy of a lot of Raleigh stockholders of the Seaboard. Many people believe here that Ryan is backed by the Southern.

The man who was shot at Wyatt's will recover.

Dr. Kirby Smith, who has charge of the criminal insane at the penitentiary, went to New York to day.

Messrs. F. H. Kinge and Jas. White, of Reading, Penn., were here to day inspecting farming land with a view of making extensive purchases. They were accompanied by Mr. E. C. Robinson, of the Immigration Department of the Seaboard, who is showing them the country. The gentlemen have also visited Vaugh and Southern Pines. They are much pleased with the State.

Mr. Chas. F. Lumsden, who is a delegate from the State to the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F., left this morning for Springfield, Ill., to attend the annual session. Past Grand Sire C. M. Busbee leaves this evening for Springfield. The Sovereign Grand Lodge is the head of all subordinate Lodges of the world and has a membership of 1,000,000.

Two Cotton Steamers Clear.

Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son have cleared the first cotton steamer of the season. It was the British steamship Hawkhurst, Captain Watson, which cleared for Bremen, Germany, with 7 883 bales of cotton, valued at $387,968.

The British steamship Naparima, Captain Grindlay, was also cleared last night by Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son, for Ghent, Belgium, with 4,740 bales of cotton, valued at $168,750.

Rain Never More Welcome.

Rain was never more welcome than that which began to fall yesterday evening about seven o'clock. The dust on the streets had gotten almost past endurance and the heat was most oppressive. The Summer is probably at an end at last and now we may look for some Autumn weather. And, speaking about the weather, the equinoctial storm hasn't turned up yet.

Accident at Pollocksville.

The Newbern Journal has the following:

Thursday morning John Henry Smith, a colored man working at the gin of Mr. John Pearce, raised the front of the gin to clear the saws of something and was caught by the saws and his left arm torn to pieces from the shoulder to the tips of his fingers and his body from his breast to the hip, was completely gashed to the full depth of the saw. It seems an impossibility for him to live. His wounds were dressed by Drs Geo. R. Hughes and C. J. Mattocks.

Lumm Haynes, the Convicted Murderer.

The murderer Lumm Haynes, who is to be hanged September 24th at Whiteville, Columbus county, N. C., for the murder of John Lee, the Truckers and Planters Journal says, remains stubbornly uncommunicative. He has revealed nothing of value since his conviction and sentence. He has said he knows all about the murder, and the question is whether he will permit his information to die with him.

For the Star.

PRAYER FOR RAIN.

In addition to parties in the country having to haul water for miles, the wells and cisterns of a good many residents of the city are giving out, which, coupled with the damage to crops, is making the drought now prevalent assume a fearful aspect, and causes one of the STAR readers to suggest that prayer be offered in our churches on Sunday for rain.

By WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 18, 1897

THROWING OFF THE DISGUISE.

The gold organs of this country seem to be really apprehensive that the monetary commission which Mr. McKinley sent to Europe may accomplish something, if it has not already done so, and seem to be much concerned, even at a remote prospect of an international congress being called. The late reports from England indicating that the British Government may possibly be disposed "to do something for silver" instead of giving them satisfaction seems to have had a contrary effect, and they are now building hopes that the conference, if called, will prove a failure. The following letter to the New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin from its Washington correspondent gives the different views as held by the gold monometallists:

"The flurry in Europe regarding the restoration of bimetallism is not regarded very seriously in financial circles here. Those who look to the political rather than the financial side of such subjects are congratulating themselves, if they are Republicans, upon the success of President McKinley in carrying out his promises to the bimetallists. They believe that much good will come to the Republican party in the West from the evidence which has been afforded by the action of the French Government and the reported purpose of the British Government that the McKinley Administration is earnest and influential in promoting the cause of silver. Just the contrary view is taken by many of the strong supporters of the gold standard. They look upon the results achieved by the Wolcott Commission, such as they are, as tending to keep alive an agitation which has already done too much harm to the credit and to the financial system of the country. The seeming sympathy extended to the bimetallic movement by the Governments of France and Great Britain are likely to afford an excuse for all sorts of performances in Congress next winter which will retard intelligent plans of currency reform and the planting of the country more firmly upon the gold basis. It does not seem probable that the bimetallic dress parade will receive any indorsement at the Treasury Department. The friends of Secretary Gage declare that he is an uncompromising supporter of the gold standard and Comptroller Eckels and Director Preston will undoubtedly renew their repeated declarations against any increase of the silver money of the country. Indorsement for bimetallism will have to come from the President alone if it comes from any member of the Administration.

"The suggestion that the Bank of England might keep one fifth of its reserve in silver is not regarded seriously by any of the financial experts of the Treasury. They look upon the proposition, if it should be made at all, as likely to be subject to so many conditions that it would never be carried out. If it were adopted, its position would be similar, but at a long remove, to that of the Bank of France, whose ample gold reserve covers the weakness of a useless accumulation of silver. The suggestion that the British Government would reopen the Indian mints to free coinage is also regarded here as highly improbable because of the disturbing effect which it would have upon values in India. The bimetallists doubtless believe that the reopening of the mints would raise the bullion value of silver, but it might require some argument upon this point to convince the British Government of the wisdom of taking the plunge. It is not understood here just why any European Government should be disposed to enter into a bimetallic agreement at this time. That they should even dally with the subject is attributed in a large degree to agrarianism in politics, which seems to be having some of the influence which it has sought to obtain in this country.

"While the agrarian element may influence ministries and parliaments to make a feint of 'doing something for silver,' it is not believed that it will be influential if a conference is actually called. The delegates would be for the most part educated economists and trained financiers, and their sympathy for the agrarian element would be limited by their fear of its influence upon their home politics. If an international monetary conference were summoned next winter, it would hold its sessions in Washington, and many facts would be brought out in the course of the debates, even by bimetallist delegates, which would not be especially palateable to the advocates of the free coinage of silver by the United States alone. It is likely that there will be found a strong disinclination on the part of countries now having large quantities of silver money to increase the amount without very positive reasons for believing that silver can be restored to one of the old legal parities. Reports of the new gold production and of the purpose of countries like Austria, Russia, Japan and Mexico to absorb the new gold may have an important bearing upon the discussions of the conference. In the meantime, the advocates of a firm adherence to the gold standard will be able to point to a gold production, which is now estimated by Director Preston at $305 000,000 for 1896, and $335,000,000 for 1897. A production like this about double that of a decade ago, would have a very serious bearing upon the problem of the money supply, if it were a purely quantitative one, as so many of the bimetallists seem to think."

This means, taken as a whole, that the gold men have not abandoned the hope of succeeding in their war against silver, and in defeating bimetallism, even if some of the European Governments should show themselves disposed to favor it, and are counting upon bringing discomfiture to the friends of silver if a conference be held, and are calculating on the co operation of the trained financiers, such as Secretary Gage, Director of the Mint, Preston, and that marvellous financier of the century, Mr. Eckels, to support them. Secretary Gage, will show that this country can't carry any more silver than it has, Mr. Preston will show (by his estimates) that the production of gold will be so great that there will be no need for more silver money, and Mr. Eckels will show that we have all the money we have any use for and that all that is necessary is to adopt some of his sage suggestions as to currency reform and that will make everything solid.

They are apprehensive, however, that the encouragement given the bimetallists in England may so cheer up the bimetallists in this country that all sorts of capers will be cut in Congress next winter, "which will retard intelligent plans of currency reform and the planting of the country more firmly upon the gold basis." It seems, then, that the gold men are not satisfied with the "gold basis" as they have it now, but want something else. They have insisted that, in spite of the assertions of the bimetallists, this country has been on a gold basis for lo, these many years, and that silver figured only in a perfunctory way and by courtesy. But they want to make a further advance now and "plant the country more firmly upon a gold basis," which means, if it means anything, gold monometallism pure and simple.

There isn't one in a hundred of them who would have admitted anything bordering upon that previous to the last election, for they made the fight against Bryan and free silver on the ground that, while they were bimetallists, they did not believe that this country alone could maintain the parity between gold and silver, and therefore they were opposed to independent coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1, and insisted on some agreement with the leading countries of Europe before this Government undertook to coin any more silver. Now when there is an intimation that other governments are disposed to receive with favor propositions looking to the establishment of international bimetallism they protest against that and declare that bimetallism is an antiquated absurdity that should no longer be seriously considered. They are simply going back on their own professions, heralding their own treachery and inconsistency, and proclaiming themselves wilful deceivers and hypocrites. They were then fighting the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the old ratio of 16 to 1, without "international agreement;" they are now, with a merely intimated possibility of such agreement, fighting bimetallism and contending for "planting the country more firmly upon the gold basis."

We thank them for that acknowledgement, and for throwing off the disguise in which they fought last year when they pretended to be more friendly to silver than the silver men themselves, to be its honest friends. If they had thrown off this disguise last year, as they are doing now, Wm. J. Bryan and not Wm. McKinley would be the President of the United States, and gold monometallism would be too dead to lift its head.

MINOR MENTION.

Some of the gold monometallists in this country are trying to discredit the bimetallic movement in England by asserting that English capitalists own three fourths of the producing silver mines of the world, which they say accounts for the interest taken in London in the free coinage of silver. The gold men played this same game during the last campaign and it doubtless had some effect in influencing votes against free coinage. It may or it may not be true that English capitalists own, as alleged, three fourths of the producing silver mines of the world, but if so what has that to do with the question of bimetallism? We know that London is a great center where mines all over the world are manipulated and their stocks bought and sold, not only silver mines, but gold, iron, copper and other mines. It is a great money center where men go who have that kind of property to dispose of. It is just as likely, and even more so, that English capital controls the larger part of the gold producing mines of the world, but does that furnish an argument against gold or gold coinage? The ownership of the mines is a matter entirely immaterial to the issue involved. Gold is not coined for the benefit of the mine owners, and silver is not coined for the benefit of the mine owners. Both are coined for the convenience and benefit of the world, and the world doesn't care a continental who owns the mines or who digs the metals. The world is interested in the coinage as well as the man who own the mines, but the interest of the world is paramount to the interest of the miner. Because he is benefitted by the coinage, that is no reason why the world should be injured by the refusal to coin.

That the farmers of the West who place their main dependence in wheat, as the farmers in the cotton States do on cotton, will be in much better condition this year than they have been for several years goes without saying, for this year they are getting a living price for wheat, which they have not gotten for several years; but in spite of all the exaggeration and nonsense indulged in by newspapers and others who figure on the millions the farmers will get this year, they are not going to get rich out of this crop. The estimated crop is about 550,000,000 bushels, about 50,000,000 more than the average for several years. Taking the acreage harvested this would give a little less than sixteen bushels to the acre. Wheat has run as high as $1.05 a bushel in New York but is worth about 80 cents in the Western towns. At 80 cents an acre of wheat would be worth $12 40. The estimated cost of producing, harvesting, threshing, &c., is about 50 cents a bushel, which would leave the farmer about $4 40 an acre. Very few farmers sow more than thirty acres, so that the average return would be about $132. The average farmer is not going to get rich out of that, or feel like putting on plutocratic style. It helps him of course, for he can do a good deal with that much money judiciously handled, and it helps others, the aggregate amounting to many millions, but there is not enough in it for the individual farmer to become excited over nor to justify the extravagant figures of those who are telling the farmers what a Klondike they have struck.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— The deficit for August and the first two weeks of September was $17,116,858. The deficit for the same period last year was $10,718,817. The lead of the Dingley law over the Wilson law as a deficit-maker was therefore $6,368,041!—New York World, Dem.

— As the facts become known it is apparent that the act of the Sheriff's deputies in shooting down the striking miners who were facing them in the highway near Lattimer was precipitate. While the sheriff and his deputies were doubtless in danger of bodily harm, and had reason to anticipate it, there had been no such immediate, actual assault as could justify the use they made of their loaded Winchesters. After the firing of the first volley the continued firing upon the retreating mob was a cruel and unnecessary proceeding. There is no adequate explanation for the shooting down of fleeing men except that the deputies themselves were in a condition of panic and bereft of cool judgment.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

A Shattered Nervous System.

FINALLY HEART TROUBLE.

Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

MR. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co's. great store at Bracceville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until in 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was truly miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It gave me relief from the start, and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Scotland Neck Commonwealth: Mr. W. R. Howard died at his home in Edgecombe September 3d, aged 81 years. He died to typhoid fever.

— Wilson Advance: A little boy, from the country, was brought in last week. He had in some way gotten a grain of corn lodged in his windpipe. Unfortunately the matter was not attended to immediately and as a consequence the grain sprouted and now the physicians fear that the child's life cannot be saved.

We learn that several head of cattle have died from lack of water in our county. The streams are nearly all dry. Northeast river was never known to be so low as at the present time, is what some of our oldest citizens say.

— Charlotte News: One of the latest improved machines of the American Cotton Picker Company has been received here, and in a few days will be tested in a cotton field on the Wadsworth plantation, near the city. It is claimed that this machine will pick out cotton cleanly, and do the work of a number of hands. If it proves practicable it will revolutionize this branch of cotton raising.

— Salisbury Sun: S. R. Harrison returned last night from Moore county, where he has been looking after the mining property owned by himself and Mr. Sam Linton. They own the Bell gold mine in Moore county, and it now promises to be a paying piece of property. A railroad is being built near the mine, which is already connected by telephone with other places. Mr. Harrison's recent visit was for the purpose of getting the mine started and this he did. He brought home some ore which will yield $9,000 to the ton. Several of Northern capitalists are expected down soon to inspect the mine with a view to purchasing it.

— Fayetteville Observer: Mr. S. S. Covington, of Winder, Moore county, is suing his legal wife for divorce. Some time ago he learned that his wife, who was a Miss Caddle, of Moore county, had been married to a Mr. Pleasant of this county. Today he arrived in this city and went to the court house, where sure enough he found the marriage certificate recorded. He obtained a certified copy of the instrument, for the purpose, he said, of seeking a divorce from his unfaithful wife. He said he would take no other step than that of getting a divorce, at the same time expressing the hope that the guilty couple would live happily together.

— Rev. John Groton, a colored preacher and farmer, died at his home on Haymount his morning at 10 o'clock in his 69th year.

— Nashville Optic: Bud Hedgepeth, a negro boy employed at the Collins House as a waiter, was arrested Tuesday morning on a warrant issued from Magistrate Harper's court, charging him with the brutal crime of injuring stock. The complainant in the case was A. N. Rouse, and it is claimed that Hedgepeth a few days ago assaulted a cow, belonging to the plaintiff, with a knife, and after cutting her several times drove the knife into her side, where it was found by another negro some time during the day. When Hedgepeth was brought into court for trial, and while Sheriff Wheeless' back was turned he made a successful break for liberty; jumping out of the window he took to the woods, after leading a number of persons a lively chase. When pushed closely at Stony creek the negro plunged into the water and swam across. The woods were searched for the fleeing man, but without avail.

Pallid faces indicate pale, thin blood. Rosy cheeks show the pure rich blood resulting from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Blind Watchmakers.

There have been blind watchmakers. In former years there was one living at Holbeach in Lincolnshire. His name was Rippin, and although completely blind he could take to pieces and put together again watches of most delicate construction with surpassing ease. He was robbed once of some of the tiny belongings of his trade, such as wheels, hairsprings, etc. The thief was traced, and Rippin identified and swore to his property by the touch.

At Barnstaple, too, in the early part of the present century, there was another such prodigy. His name was William Huntly. He was born blind and was brought up by his father, who was a clock and watchmaker, to that business. The inhabitants had great faith in him, and he had plenty of employment. Musical clocks and watches even were repaired by him without difficulty, and it is said that in some cases where other tradesmen had failed to discover a defect he detected the fault and set it right.—London Tit-Bits.

The Kidd Treasure.

Captain William Kidd, the notorious pirate, who was tried in London and executed for piracy in the year 1701, had a ship called the Quida, or Quedagh, an East India merchantman which he had captured near the mouth of the Red sea. He then sailed for the West Indies and, finding that the English had proclaimed him pirate and ordered his arrest, left the Quedagh with 23 of the pirates and sailed to the north. There is a tradition that these pirates transferred their property to another less unwieldy ship and burned the East Indiaman. Another tradition is that she was brought into the Hudson and, being chased by an English man-of-war, was sunk near the Highlands with most of her treasure. It is certain that there was visible for a time the wreck of some large ship sunk in the sands at that place.—Harper's Round Table.

Alas, Poor Fellow!

"That," said the infirmary attendant, "is an exceptionally sad case. That man used to be one of the best barbers in the country, but one day he found himself helpless."

"Indeed!" exclaimed the visitor. "What was the trouble?"

"He had lost his voice."—Cleveland Leader.

FOOLS OR KNAVES.

Which of the Two Is the More Harmful In the Domestic Circle?

An old question often asked is, Which do most harm to the world, fools or knaves? But, old as it is, no one has yet answered it satisfactorily to all—that is, authoritatively and decisively. And no one can, for it is one of those questions which depend on circumstances—one of those seesaw conditions where now one is uppermost and now the other, and no one can say which is supreme.

The fools, who are many, with the best intentions in the world, work infinite mischief even to those they love best and would serve most loyally. For one thing, as a rule, they are chatterboxes and let out everything they ought to keep to themselves. If they are your guests, meaning no harm, they gossip about your domestic affairs; discuss your character, tell all the little circumstances of your daily life, and, being fools, unwittingly distort all they relate and exaggerate into importance the veriest trifles that may have occurred. A sharpened accent in a hasty contradiction—even good folk are given to these puny bursts of irritation—is made into the sure sign of deep seated disagreement, and you and your husband, who live like turtle doves in the main, with just an occasional, very occasional, peck, are presented to society as profoundly inharmonious and always quarreling. You cannot quite understand what your sympathetic friends would be at when they speak to you compassionately, sigh and say, "Poor dear!" You do not know why you should be pitied, not having overheard your fool when he or she reported that little scene at table where you had perhaps blunderingly, perhaps obstinately, maintained that the shield was red when your husband declared it was blue. Thus the little spurt came, and the fire died down as soon as it was kindled, like a match that catches but does not burn. But your fool made it into a serious conflagration, and only one of many like unto it. So with all your domestic concerns in detail, if you have a fool as your guest—one who does not understand the very alphabet of good breeding in the reticence imposed on all who are admitted into the intimacy of a family.

A fool of this kind is mischievous beyond all after remedy. In this gossip mongering world of ours it needs but the slightest push to set the snowball a-rolling, when it gathers as it goes till it is out of all proportion with the original nucleus. A great many of those disastrous surmises and those evil reports which flit about the world like specters in the twilight are the undesigned work of fools—fools as foolish as was that silly knave who used his master's formula to call up a demon water carrier—a bheesti not quite after the pattern of good old 'eathen Gunga Din—and could not lay him again, though well nigh drowned by the creature he had invoked. Between a fool and a knave, then, as a guest, the fool is the worst, because the knave cannot do more harm, and the chances are that, having brains and counting the cost and the gain of his own actions, he will refrain from setting about lies which will do him no good and may come smashing back on his own pate in the form of an action for libel, with damages to follow.—Philadelphia Times.

A Chance For Life.

Much curiosity is directed toward Henri Rochefort's "Adventures of My Life." Something of an Ishmaelite, as he is, M. Rochefort's life has been a long skirmish. The following passage gives some idea of the risk he once ran:

"For more than a quarter of a century," he says in his preface, "I have been like a man on a switch-back railway, continually plunged from the highest summits into the darkest depths. A few months after the day when the populace threw down the Sainte-Pelagie doors to liberate me and carry me in triumph to take my seat in the national defense government, I was dragged to Versailles in chains and threatened with death. For a whole hour I was paraded in the streets of the city like another Pougatcheff, and I can still bring to my mind's eye the figure of an old man, attired in a closely buttoned frock coat, who waved a red umbrella and started in the direction of the procession. 'It's Rochefort! Flay him alive this time!'"

Bitter Recollection.

A sad looking man went into a chemist's. "Can you give me," he asked, "something that will drive from my mind the thought of sorrow and bitter recollection?" And the druggist nodded and put him up a little dose of quinine and wormwood and rhubarb and epsom salts and a dash of castor oil and gave it to him, and for six months the man could not think of anything in the world except new schemes for getting the taste out of his mouth.—Spare Moments.

A Judicial Mot.

The best judicial mot ever recorded is that of Sir George Jessel, the late master of the rolls, when sitting with Mr. Justice Bacon. A demented and enraged suitor who had been unsuccessful threw an egg at him in the corridor of the courts which narrowly missed the judge's head. Smilingly Sir George turned round and calmly remarked to the astonished bystanders, "I think that must have been intended for my brother Bacon."

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, September 17.—After opening steady at an advance of 1¾ points the cotton market further advanced 2 to 5 points on more active positions, sales being better than expected and crop accounts conflicting, and including rumors of a cold wave in Texas, receipts falling below estimates, helped the early improvement. Later the market made a sharp break of 10 to 16 points under active liquidation, following disappointment regarding outside speculation. The decline brought out cotton held on top orders. The market in the afternoon was decidedly irregular, with a generally weak undertone under fears of bearish cables tomorrow morning. Just before the close there was a partial rally on covering, with the market finally steady at 6 to 10 points net loss.

The following are the total net receipts of cotton at all ports since September 1, 1897: Galveston, 99,239 bales; New Orleans, 69,350; Mobile, 8,318; Savannah, 60,154; Charleston, 21,174; Wilmington, 34,148; Norfolk, 6 294; Baltimore, 111; New York, 1,089; Boston, 911; Newport News 0. "RES ANGUSTA DOMI."

Haud facile emergunt, quorum virtutibus obstat res angusta domi.—Juvenal.

Although, since Babel's impious crime,
Th' investigation of first causes
Has occupied a deal of time,
And must until this planet pauses,
In all the quaint competing schemes
Of metaphysics I could mention,
The "res angusta domi" seems
To meet with less than due attention.

Strephon, my friend, a youth of parts,
Who daily scribbles for his dinner,
Ventured to rhyme of "hearts" and "darts"
And such stale copy to Grimm.
Her father fumed, her brother swore,
Her portly mother murmured, "O my!"
The flunkey kicked him through the door,
And all for "res angusta domi."

Poor Strephon's case in some such way
I would explain and several others
Where chill December married May
And men eloped with their grandmothers,
Where peers were seen behind a cab,
And lover through open windows flying,
Where honor ceased to feel a stab
And age was left alone in dying.

Girls have I known whose charms compared
With Helen's, girls as histrionic
As Siddons, Terry, Bernhardt, Baird
(Believe me, this is not ironic).
They wax not fat upon their art,
Nor famous. If you want to know why—
They can't afford to "dress the part."
Again 'tis "res angusta domi."

This law of nature will explain
Why Delia's driven to discuss it
If she shall trudge through mire and rain,
Or treat herself and boldly bus it;
Why dukes from Liverpool embark
To seek some thoughtful talking spinster,
Why Cannegowns go to the park
And Irish patriots to Westminster.

Perhaps you think from choice I spend
My powers in writing down to noodles.
Sooner, believe me, would I bend
My mighty mind to teaching poodles.
Oh, rich in faith, but poor in brains,
I'd see the critics at Tonti
And all their henchmen hung in chains
But for the "res angusta domi."

—St. James Gazette.

A TREASURE SAVED.

We sat in the little frontier hotel at Pine Ridge agency that stormy December night in 1890. There were a number of us—all newspaper correspondents—and a few interpreters, officers and reservation employees. The days previous had been full of excitement, for the Brule and Ogalalla Sioux were engaged in the ghost dance or messiah craze. About the agency General Miles had grouped some 1,500 troops. Beyond their white tents clustered the dingy tepees of the Indians, some 800 of them.

We greatly enjoyed those evenings in the hotel. They brought back to memory pictures of the old west—staging, buffalo hunting, Indian fighting. And what a fund of information the scouts, interpreters and "old timers" poured into our willing ears! Each one could have talked all night and yet left the narration of his experiences unfinished then. We were especially interested in the singular career of B. He had left a home in Connecticut, and after varied experinces in Iowa and Nebraska joined a company of miners, and with them entered the new mining camp of Deadwood. He was then but 17 years old. That same winter he carried the first mail out of Deadwood to the Missouri river.

B. joined our circle while a scout was relating some experiences with stage robbers in the early seventies and immediately entered into the conversation.

"So far as I know, the smoothest trick, prompted by a desire to save money, ever played upon stage robbers occurred near Miles City in 1879. A load of passengers was almost within sight of the town. They had been traveling all day and were worn out, for the roads were awful bad in those days, and all coaches bounced and swayed very much. Having come near their journey's end, they were congratulating themselves. Hold ups had been frequent. Two heavily armed messengers accompanied each coach, with orders to fire on any person acting suspiciously.

"'Dear me,' said an elderly man near the door, 'I'm glad we are safe. I have about $500, and if I lost it I don't know where I could get more.'

"'I can get plenty of money,' said a traveling salesman, 'but the loss of what I have would put me to much trouble out here among strangers.'

"Two miners and a prospector, each with large rolls, expressed their satisfaction at passing dangerous points safely. The next speaker was a little old woman, kind and motherly in her ways.

"'My boy has started a restaurant in town and is doing well. He wanted me to come and help, so here I am, goodness knows far enough away from dear old Ohio. I thought he would need his mother, for these mining towns are wild, I hear, and full of temptations. I have only got $200. It's all the cash I have in the world. Fearing robbers, I have put it in a place where no one would think of looking. You cannot guess where?' Of course the guesses were all wrong.

"'Well, I have four $50 bills against the sole of my foot inside my left shoe.'

"'Capital!' said the elderly gentleman. 'No one would ever think of looking for money in your shoes.' In a far corner at the front sat a small, slender, black haired man. He kept between his feet a little black valise. No one spoke to him during the journey, and he made no sound save occasionally to cough in a peculiar manner. Some of the passengers thought him to be a consumptive. Even when general good fellowship prevailed he took no part in the conversation. Making bold, the old lady said:

"'Ain't you—what would you do if you were held up?'

"A low cough and a shrug of the shoulders was all the reply.

"'Well, a mean fellow I ought the old gentleman. At this instant the coach lurched violently to one side, and bang, bang, bang! came the sudden reports of guns. One messenger was shot, the other compelled to throw up his hands before time for resistance, and consternation and terror prevailed within the coach.

"'Lord, Lord!' prayed the elderly man.

"'Oh, dear, oh, dear!' cried the woman.

"'Hustle up here; git out!' and one of the robbers held the door open with his left hand, while he covered the passengers with the revolver in his right. Of course they all filed out and were stood up in a row. There was much trembling on the part of the men, and the poor old woman wept audibly. It only took a few moments to go through the pockets of the line and to investigate the messenger's small safe. Probably the road agents would have taken to the hills at this moment had not one of them beheld the frail figure within the coach.

"'Hold on, boys! Here's one we forgot,' and he started in with an oath to drag forth the consumptive. As he entered a most plaintive, cough interrupted voice greeted him, and, tough as he was, he paused:

"'Please don't make me get out. I am very sick. I will die, I know. If you will only let me be, I will tell you where you can get $900 which you have overlooked. I have no money, but I know where the $200 is.' The robbers outside, having heard the shrill, penetrating voice, glanced at each other. The leader called out to his fellow within the coach: 'All right, Bill, find out where them $200 is and let the pore devil alone. We got to be skipping out.'

"The piping voice took courage. 'Gentlemen, if you will ask that old lady to remove her left shoe, you will find the money.'

"The men began to mutter and scowl. The drummer found courage enough to say it was a shame to rob an old woman of her last dollar, and no one but the most depraved sort of a road agent would be guilty of such an act. The leader walked up to the drummer, slapped his face and tickled the end of his nose with the muzzle of his six shooter. The drummer discreetly held his tongue until the thieves were gone.

"It was with sighs and sobs that the old lady seated herself on the ground, took the shoe from that fat foot and handed up her last dollar. In a twinkling it was pocketed, and the outlaws jumped for their horses and were gone.

"What a hubbub broke out when the people found themselves alone once more! With one accord they assailed the man within the coach.

"'Oh, you villain, you wretch, to tell them of my money!' cried the woman as she shook him by the shoulders. The drummer entered at this moment. He had been talking to the other men of the party in low tones.

"'Just step out, madam. We want to talk with him,' he said. She obeyed, and several entered. It was noticed that the driver had his reins in his hands, and one end of them looked suspiciously like a noose.

"'You d——d rascal,' said the driver, 'to have deliberately given this woman's money over to those outlaws! We'll make short shift of you,' and he threw the noose over the man's head. There was a desperate struggle for a moment, and then the noose fell down, clean cut through. It was seen that the little man had a bowie in his hand. He spoke in a different voice this time.

"'For God's sake don't bother me here. You can hang me at Miles City as well as here. It's only a little way. I shall not escape. When we get there, I will have something to tell you which will explain my action. A man always has a right to have a fair hearing before he is hung, and I claim that privilege.'

"'Well, we can watch him that far,' said the drummer. 'We can hang him there as well as here.'

"Some one helped the driver with the body of the messenger, and the coach started for town. The drummer, the miner and several others watched the little man intently, but he made no movement, nor did he speak until the coach lumbered up in front of the post-office and hotel. Then he said in a quiet voice:

"'I am Tom ——' (one of the famous men of the Black Hills), 'and I have $40,000 in this grip. The only way to save it was by telling the robbers of the old woman's money. I am glad to return it to her and a stake extra for the worry I caused her. As for the rest of you, I have nothing to do with your losses. We all ran the same risk. I wish you good evening,' and he stepped quickly from his seat to the door and into the street, dropping a bundle of bills into the lady's lap as he passed."

And after lighting his pipe our story teller passed out into the night and wended his way to his humble cabin.—New York Tribune.

Alcohol From Apples.

Messrs. Vivien and Dupont have experimented as to the manufacture of alcohol from apples. One hundred quarts of apple juice contained 89.75 per cent of water, 0.80 per cent of ash, 2.04 per cent of pectin bodies and 2 per cent of cane sugar, 2.97 per cent dextrose, 8.50 per cent levulose and 0.84 per cent of other sugars; total sugars, 14.81 per cent. On adding phosphoric acid, potash and ammonia (or sodium nitrate) the fermentation proceeds as quickly and completely as with turnip juice, and by this means 5 per cent alcohol is obtained from the apples. This alcohol was considered to be of better quality than the ordinary alcohol from cider. The grounds remaining equal 18 per cent of the apples taken and contain 2.5 per cent of sugar.

ROOF PAINTING.

OWNERS OF BUILDINGS IN AND AROUND Wilmington will find it to their interest to see W. C. Mitchell about their leaking roofs before it is too late to remedy same. While you sleep rust is playing havoc with your Tin and Iron Roofs.

The ordinary paints that are used for such work crack from the heat and peel off, hence, the water finds its way to the tin and soon makes your roof a sieve, from which your tenants complain. I am here in the interest of such roofs with a

Combination Roof Paint

that stops all leaks and makes your roof fire and water proof. This Paint is a combination that expands to heat and shrinks as it cools. It will not crack, scale or peel off, and is durable from eight to ten years without extra coating, and for than any other Paint known to the painting fraternity. My son, who superintends the work, has twenty years' experience at the business that he learned from his Old Dad, who served five years under an Englishman to learn the Art of Painting.

All orders addressed to me through the postoffice, or at the Marlborough House, or at the Hardware store of Owen F. Love & Co., will receive prompt attention. I will be here six or eight weeks. Any patronage will be appreciated, I can give reliable references from parties for whom I have worked.

Respectfully,

W. C. MITCHELL,

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 18, 1897

BUSINESS ACTIVITY.

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT IN TRADE.

Starting of Many Mines and Works—Enormous Exports of Wheat and Corn—Favorable Crop News—Fall in Sterling Exchange — Gold Imports Exceeding Exports.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say in its issue to-morrow: The end of the bituminous coal strike and the return of men to work at advanced wages adds to the purchasing power of the people. The anthracite strike affects not a fifth as many workers. The starting of many mines and works, enormous exports of wheat and corn, the favorable news as to this year's crops and cotton, the fall in sterling exchange and the report showing that gold imports in August exceeded exports by $3,390,587, while merchandise exports exceeded imports by $40 936,788, have all contributed to forward the improvement in business. The replenishment of stocks cannot be half finished, though some who could see no sign of improvement a few weeks ago, are now finding it so vast and rapid that they fear reaction. But consumers as well as dealers, have also to supply themselves after years of enforced economy, and while their power to purchase is increasing every day, and their actual buying at retail, reasons for apprehension are not urgent.

The wheat market has declined over five cents on account of crop reports, which promise larger prosperity, and corn and cotton are both a little lower for like reasons. Yet estimates of the highest financial authorities regarding requirements from this country, are not smaller, but larger than before, while better prospects in Argentine, Australia and India hold out no promise of large European supplies, or of any until Winter is about over.

Atlantic exports of wheat, flour included, are more than double last year's each week, and in two weeks 8 890,813 bushels against 4,107,721 last year, and of corn 7,095,868 bushels, against 3 987,-896 last year. From the Pacific coast wheat is also moving largely, 22 cargoes from San Francisco this month, and over 548,935 bushels in seven days from Portland. Corn declined over three cents, with the growing belief that the yield will surpass estimates. Cotton was depressed from 7¼c to 7 cents with favorable news of yield, although the mills are now consuming with great rapidity.

The stock market had another of its reactions on Monday, but on Tuesday was higher than ever.

The iron industry again shows increasing demand, with an average of prices nearly 1 per cent. higher, due to purchasing by consumers.

Textile mills are more fully employed than at any other time for a year, though new buying has diminished in amount, and while the number of orders received is still large the amount is smaller. The demand is still very good for the season, and prices are firm throughout, with some further advances. Actual buying of wool by mills is increasing at all markets, with the belief that foreign supplies are short.

Failures for the week have been 204 in the United States, against 317 last year, and 40 in Canada, against 33 last year.

WOMAN MURDERED.

Her Dead Body Found in a Cabin Near Salem, Virginia.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SALEM, Va., September 17.—Sallie Young, about 18 years of age, was found murdered last night in a log cabin two miles west of town on the Roanoke river. The coroner's jury, after a full investigation of the facts, rendered a verdict to the effect that the depraved girl came to her death from a ball fired from a pistol in the hands of Robert Foute. Foute is a white man 35 years of age, and has a very unsavory reputation. Whiskey and jealousy are supposed to have been the cause of the crime.

TRAINS IN COLLISION.

Bad Wreck On the Wisconsin Central—Five Men Killed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, WIS., Sept. 17.—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Wisconsin Central railroad, six miles west of this city at four o'clock this morning, resulting in the death of five people and the injury of several others. Two freight trains, through a mistake in orders, while going forty miles an hour, met in a curve, not even giving the engineer and firemen time to jump, and came together with terrific force.

YELLOW FEVER NEWS.

STATUS OF AFFAIRS AS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED.

The Situation Nowhere Alarming—No Relaxation of Efforts to Control the Disease —Eight New Cases and One Death at New Orleans—Two Deaths and Two New Cases at Mobile.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW ORLEANS, September 17.—The fever situation in New Orleans to day assumed a more serious aspect than at any time since Sunday, when six of the St. Claude cases were declared to be yellow fever.

At 6 o'clock this evening the board of health of the city announced the appearance of eight new cases, and of these one death—Zena Brauner. At the office of the board of health to-day's reports were considered somewhat surprising and disappointing. The situation had so materially changed last night that it was felt that pretty much the worst had come, and conditions would improve.

Yesterday was one of the hottest days of the month, and as yellow fever thrives in that character of weather there seems to have been a rapid development of germs. The physicians still feel, however, that there is much that is satisfactory in the situation. It is true that the new cases to-day represent the extreme upper, the extreme lower and the central portions of the city, but there has been no serious spread of the more original foci, and the hopeful opinion is still expressed that the disease may be controlled and that there is no imminent danger of an epidemic.

Secretary Patton of the Board said this evening: "The appearance of eight cases to-day is not necessarily alarming. I said three evenings ago that the prospects seemed to point to the development here of at least thirty cases as a result of constant intercourse we have been having with the infected towns on the Gulf coast and the fact that a promiscuous throng of some 700 or 800 people had hastened into the city on the Monday evening following the declaration of the Ocean Springs sickness to be yellow fever. We have had now twenty eight cases and two deaths. The majority of the remaining cases are improving. It is still quite likely that there will appear numerous cases in New Orleans, but the situation is not distressing and the chances of a disastrous epidemic are remote."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The advices received by Surgeon General Wyman to-night included the following:

From Vicksburg, Miss., Dr. Hunter, president of the State Board of Health, reported that there had been one suspicious case at Nitta Yuma.

From Mobile, Dr. Guiteras reports: Day ending at noon, cases previously reported, 3; new cases, 2; suspicious cases, 3; deaths 2. Total under treatment, 5.

NEW ORLEANS, September 17.—To-night the city is comparatively calm. People continue to leave in small parties, but there is nothing like the wild exodus that depopulated Mobile, Jackson and other places. The situation was somewhat quieter to-day at Ocean Springs. Three cases, however, were reported.

The report of the Board of Health at Biloxi to-day says there are nineteen cases of actual yellow fever under treatment, with diagnosis reserved as to twelve cases. There were seven new cases reported in the twenty-four hours ending yesterday. The doctors at Biloxi are tempted now no longer to class cases as suspicious, but to come out boldly and say that they are yellow fever.

The New Orleans Board of Health announced to-night that many of the older cases of yellow fever that have been heretofore reported are rapidly progressing towards recovery.

MOBILE, ALA., September 17.—To-day's report shows no increase in the ratio of cases and but one additional death, that of J. L. Taylor, a bricklayer, who came here from West Virginia four weeks ago. He had been in a bad condition physically ever since his arrival. There are three suspicious cases, and others are spoken of to-night, but they have not been reported. The quarantine against Mobile has increased in severity.

Scranton reports no new cases of yellow fever there to-day. The cases previously reported are said to be improving.

JACKSON, MISS., September 17.—Information has been received at the Governor's office that there was one death from yellow fever at Augusta, in Perry county, Miss. It is feared that a new foci will be started in this case in the southeastern portion of the State.

VICKSBURG, Miss., September 17.—Dr. Parnell reports to the State board of health to-night, fifteen new cases for the day, (including one convalescent), at Edwards; the worst report yet. Four trained nurses were sent to Edwards by special train.

LUETGERT MURDER TRIAL.

Prosecution Will Close Its Case, With Strong Evidence to Prove the Motive For the Alleged Crime.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The prosecution will rest its case in the Luetgert trial to-morrow, after three weeks given to the presentation of evidence against the prisoner, and four weeks spent in the trial.

The prosecution will close its case with some strong evidence tending to prove the motive for the alleged crime. The State will endeavor to show that infatuation for Mary Siemering, the servant girl in the Luetgert family was the cause of the murder. It will be claimed that the big sausage-maker desired to make the girl his wife, and that he put Mrs. Luetgert out of the way in order to permit his marriage with the girl. To prove this theory Frank Bialke and Frank Ordorfsky, employes of Luetgert, who have already testified, will be again put upon the stand and will give evidence relating to the domestic affairs of Luetgert. They are expected to testify as to the fondness of Luetgert for Mary Siemering and the opposition to the girl's presence in the house made by Mrs. Luetgert. The frequent visits of Mary Siemering to Luetgert in the sausage factory at unusual hours of the night will be detailed. Both men will tell of seeing Luetgert chase his wife, upon one occasion, with a revolver, and they will tell of threats which they heard him make.

To-day was given up to technical evidence and there was little of interest in the trial for the outsider.

MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE.

Instructions to Surgeons in the Yellow Fever Districts—Report from Surgeon in Charge at Atlanta.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, September 17.—Surgeon General Wyman to-day issued to marine hospital officers the following instructions, defining their field of operations in behalf the government in aid of State authorities in dealing with yellow fever:

"Surgeon Murray, in charge of all matters between Louisiana and Alabama, line south of but not including Jackson and Vicksburg.

"Surgeon Sawtelle, at Atlanta, in charge of Georgia.

"Surgeon Carter, in charge of New Orleans and Louisiana.

"Passed Assistant Surgeon Glennan, at Mobile, in charge of Alabama and prepared to establish a detention camp near Mobile.

"Passed Assistant Surgeon Geddings at Jackson, Miss., in charge of northern Mississippi, is establishing detention camp near Edwards, Miss.

"Passed Assistant Surgeon Young, at Memphis, to aid Mississippi river inspection and co-operate with local authorities.

"Each officer to wire daily, if possible, the number of cases and deaths at points in district."

The following telegraphic dispatch was received to day from Surgeon Sawtelle, the official in charge of the Georgia district:

"Atlanta, September 17, 1897.—Railroad officials here have agreed not to sell tickets to persons from infected districts to points south of Atlanta. Medical inspection of incoming trains from South inaugurated by Board of Health yesterday. Atlanta and West Point trains are met by competent inspectors forty miles from city, and Southern Railroad trains from Birmingham twenty miles out. Any suspicious cases found on trains will be put off four miles from city limits, and cared for in detention camp. No suspicious cases reported in city; no cases found on trains. To meet demands of quarantine, all coaches bound south from Atlanta and Montgomery are fumigated before departure by railroad authorities. New York and New Orleans Pullmans are fumigated in Jersey City by health inspectors from Montgomery. No malarial diseases in the city. Exodus from infected districts continues, many passing through Atlanta to points north and east. About 500 refugees are now in Atlanta. Health authorities are aiding them to reach northern places by issuing health certificates after thorough examination of each person.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

Ten Thousand Men Still Out—Sporadic Outbreaks of Violence—Raiding Women—Troops Uneasy—Will Not Interfere with the Mass Meeting at Hazleton.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HAZLETON, PA., September 17.—The strike situation to-night may be summarized thus: Over 10,000 men are still out, with no apparent prospect of settlement. Sporadic outbreaks of violence are occurring near the outlying collieries and the withdrawal of troops is not only without consideration but the guard lines of several of the camps are being constantly strengthened, and the wisdom of bringing more cavalry is being discussed. It was said to-day that if the soldiers are kept here much longer the Sheridan troop, of Tyrone, attached to the Second brigade, will be ordered out. A captain of Gen. Gobin's staff is authority for the statement that an uneasy feeling prevails at headquarters in consequence of the little outbreaks of the past few days and the indication they give of the underlying disturbance. The brigade commander himself admitted today that the action of the raiding women was giving him much perplexity. He does not care to use force against them and has instructed the soldiers in case of necessity to use only the flats of their sabres upon the amazons. The story reached the General that many men were in the attacking crowds of yesterday and to-day, disguised as women.

This morning's violent scene at Audenried was almost an exact repetition of yesterday's at the same place. It arose from another attempt to start the Monarch and Star washeries of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre companies. About 100 men reported for work at the former, when the wild band of women swooped down upon them with an armament of sticks and stones. Others were stationed on top of an adjacent culm bank and showered missles on the would-be workers, and a large body of men and boys waited in reserve behind the women. The men promptly quit work before any injury could be inflicted.

Late last night another territory was turbulent. A body of strikers at Lattimer, No. 2, quarrelled among themselves and bloodshed was threatened, when Company E, of the Thirteenth regiment, which is camped at Lattimer, restored quiet.

Gen. Gobin will not interfere with to-morrow night's big mass meeting, unless highly colored speeches are made. The principal speakers are R. J. McGuire, of the American Federation of Labor, and George Chance, of the United Labor League. As a precautionary measure a guard of soldiers will be present.

Organizer Fahey and other leaders have asked that the militia be withdrawn, and Gobin has advised them that the speediest way to accomplish this will be to stop holding mass meetings.

The only change in the strike situation to-day was the return to work of the 500 men employed at Cox's Beaver Meadow colliery.

AID FOR BILOXI.

The City Council Calls on the Country for Assistance.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BILOXI, September 17.—The City Council adopted to-day resolutions calling on the country for aid. Various industries have closed down, thus throwing people out of employment; that nearly all the sick are of that class and unable to purchase medicines and other things necessary in such emergency. The appeal is signed by Harry T. Howard, mayor, and the members of the council.

WIFE OF SENATOR VEST.

Was Benefited by Nature's Greatest Remedy, Paine's Celery Compound.

So many testimonials are coming in from every part of the country to the proprietors of that greatest of all known remedies, which stands so pre-eminently above all others in its curative powers, that it generally has been thought best to select almost at random a small percentage of them for publication.

The accompanying letter from the wife of the great Missouri senator, however, is one of a great many that have come first and last from families of national reputation.

The health of the wealthiest and most highly cultivated is of course no more dear to them and their relatives than is that of the humbler persons who depend upon their daily toil for their week-to-week living. But the first class of people certainly have at their command every facility that money and good judgment can secure to benefit them when their health is threatened.

For that reason the almost endless number of hearty testimonials that are received from those who have the best medical advice at their instant disposal is double assurance of the unequaled value of this Paine's celery compound, which has come to be known throughout the world as the remedy that makes people well.

Why should one waste the opportunity of gaining health and vigor by temporizing with any of the many worthless remedies that quacks offer, when this wonderful discovery of America's ablest physician, Prof. Edward E Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college, the very foremost medical authority of this generation, Paine's celery compound, is now within reach of every one?

Long sufferers from nervousness, dyspepsia and neuralgia should not think their patience a virtue. It is simply a sad waste of the joy of healthy living.

Not only these disorders, but all other effects of low nervous vigor can be absolutely cured, and permanently cured, by building up the nervous strength and purifying the blood with Paine's celery compound!

An "ailing habit" is easy to fall into. Many persons with no serious organic trouble conclude that they are invalids, and make no determined effort to get well until they become a nuisance to their friends and a burden to themselves. What they need is to drive out the clogging, stupefying humors from their blood and nourish their irritated nerves by means of Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound will absolutely cure rheumatism, neuralgia, those frequently recurring headaches and those alarming heart palpitations and sinking spells. It urges the body to take on flesh and to cushion the nerves with a proper accumulation of fat that will counteract all irritation. By means of this superb nutriment every part of the body is nourished and built up.

Vigorous health stands on a tripod, one may say, of pure, rich blood, a thoroughly nourished nervous system —depending on these—a capable healthy digestion and assimilation. Poor health and disease mean that something is wrong with the blood or nerves. Paine's celery compound attends first to these two great essentials, and whatever else is wrong is soon corrected when the blood and nerves are right.

Using this great invigorator, the tired, thin, bloodless body begins at once to take on flesh; the pain in the back ceases, showing its healthful action upon the kidneys; the skin gains color and clearness, and that unmistable feeling of well-being gradually takes the place of the nervous, irritated, gloomy foreboding that always accompanies a tired, underfed nervous condition.

LYNCHING IN MEXICO.

Sensational Ending to the Attempt on the Life of President Diaz.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CITY OF MEXICO, September 17.—A sensational ending to the attempt on the life of President Diaz, occurred this morning, when Arnulfo Arroyo was lynched by a band of the common people, determined on revenge. It was an act unprecedented in the history of the country. At 1 o'clock in the morning a number of men belonging to the common people forced their way into the municipal palace, ascended the stairway, overcame the guards and made their way to the office of the Inspector General of Police and killed Arnulfo Arroyo, whom they found there. The killing was a wild and savage scene, and was followed by a wild and noisy retreat. The officers succeeded in capturing a score of persons. When the police entered the room they found the body of the dead man lying in the middle of the floor. It was literally riddled and hacked with knife stabs. At his side were found a door-bar and several knives and other steel instruments. An examination showed that the panes of a window were broken. The men who were captured last night would not say anything.

When Arroyo was surprised by the lynchers he was sitting in a chair in the northeast corner of what was once Gen. Carballada's private office. There, mixed with fragments of window panes, was a long pool of blood, marking the spot where Arroyo had been stabbed. The body was removed to the fourth ward police station.

The gendarmes who were guarding Arroyo were unarmed. If they had been armed they would have fired on the mob. Over two hundred people penetrated the building. When they surprised Arroyo he was in a straight jacket and could make no resistance. He seemed too terrified to speak.

Queen Victoria.

People often write to Queen Victoria asking her to lend them small sums and promising to repay her in installments. Sometimes they write saying they are unable to pay her taxes and trusting that she will allow the account to stand over a bit. The presents the queen receives by post form a curious collection. They are invariably returned. Poets send her poems; tradesmen, specimens of their wares; ladies, mittens, stockings and other articles of attire worked by themselves. When any member of the household is ill, medicines pour in from all parts of the world, and at Christmas the queen is the recipient of some hundreds of Christmas cards, many of them of the most expensive nature.—Philadelphia Ledger.
